Overview

What is the largest sodium ion battery storage system in the world?

This project opened on June 30, 2024, with battery cells supplied by Zhongke Haina, making it the largest sodium-ion battery energy storage system in the world. The storage system consists of 42 battery containers and 21 integrated booster and conversion machines, in addition to a 110 kV booster station.

What is Datang Hubei sodium ion new energy storage power station?

The project represents the first phase of the Datang Hubei Sodium Ion New Energy Storage Power Station, which consists of 42 battery energy storage containers and 21 sets of boost converters. It uses 185 ampere-hour large-capacity sodium-ion batteries supplied by China's HiNa Battery Technology and is equipped with a 110 kV transformer station.

Will a 'terawatt-hour' sodium-ion battery industry form by 2030?

HiNa Battery's general manager Li Shujun has claimed that the a 'terawatt-hour' sodium-ion battery industry will gradually form by 2030, Yicai Global added. The first phase of the world's largest sodium-ion battery energy storage system (BESS), in China, has come online.

Are sodium ion batteries a game-changer for EVs & energy storage?

It boasts a 50 MW/100 MWh energy storage capacity, the largest globally for sodium-ion batteries. BYD sees sodium-ion batteries as a game-changer, particularly for specific applications. They might not be ideal for high-range EVs due to lower energy density, but they could be perfect for Lower-range EVs & Energy storage.
