

Central Asia promotes solar energy storage

Overview

How has Central Asia impacted China's Energy Security Strategy?

China's energy security strategy has also greatly benefited from its investments in Central Asia. The China-Central Asia Gas Pipeline has significantly reduced China's reliance on maritime energy imports, which are vulnerable to geopolitical disruptions, such as those that could arise in the South China Sea or the Strait of Malacca.

What are the benefits of energy storage beyond the energy sector?

Benefits of energy storage beyond the energy sector are shown. Long duration energy storage is key for high shares of solar PV and wind energy in the region. An open-access, integrated water and energy system model of Central Asia is developed. Central Asia's energy transition to a high share of renewable energy by 2050 is analyzed.

How can China and Central Asia improve energy cooperation?

To maximize the potential of energy cooperation while mitigating risks, policymakers in both China and Central Asia should prioritize joint planning, capacity building, and technology transfer. Diversifying energy sources and strengthening regional cooperation can enhance energy security and resilience.

Can energy storage solve transboundary water and energy conflict in Central Asia?

A solution for transboundary water and energy conflict in Central Asia is proposed. Benefits of energy storage beyond the energy sector are shown. Long duration energy storage is key for high shares of solar PV and wind energy in the region. An open-access, integrated water and energy system model of Central Asia is developed.
