Overview

Are battery energy storage systems a 'great achievement' in Ireland?

ESB Networks described the project as a “great achievement for battery storage” in Ireland. Battery energy storage systems, often referred to as Bess, are regarded as a vital part of the Ireland’s fledgling renewable energy sector and demand for them has never been higher.

How many battery storage systems are there in Ireland?

There are around 15 of these battery storage systems already hooked up to the grid around the Republic and while major players in the industry continue to work on additional facilities. Lumcloon energy is at the centre of battery storage in Ireland.

What will ESB's new battery plant do for Ireland?

ESB, the state-owned electricity company, has announced the opening of a major battery plant at its site in Poolbeg, Dublin. The battery plant will add around 75MW of fast-acting energy storage to make the grid in Ireland more stable and increase the share of renewables in the electricity system.

Could Donegal's rusting battery containers be the key to Ireland's energy future?

Ireland’s energy future depends on more than just building wind and solar farms. We need energy to be both clean and dependable – when the wind blows and when it doesn’t. That requires strategically located, long-duration storage. Donegal’s rusting battery containers might be a critical step towards that future.
