Who manufactures arc-resistant switchgear?

Eaton was the first major North American manufacturer to design, test, and manufacture arc-resistant switchgear in accordance with EEMAC G14.1. We now offer Type 2 and 2B arc-resistant switchgear assemblies, designed and tested in accordance with the IEEE C37.20.7, with Type VCP-W drawout vacuum circuit breakers.

How does an arc flash switchgear work?

Generally, this type of switchgear will come with flaps that open under the intense pressure of arcing energy. The flaps allow the heated gases of an arc flash and the pressure to safely vent out of the enclosure and away from the operator. When venting arc flash gases outside of the switchgear room is necessary, extra duct work is used.

What is arc flash protection in a substation?

The main purpose of arc flash protection in a substation is to protect both personnel and equipment from the consequences of an arc fault. Arc flash faults are the most devastating types of faults known in power distribution systems.

Why is arc flash protection important?

Arc flash protection helps to minimize the safety risks for employees. It can also prevent significant accidents. Even if damaged areas and equipment can be replaced, the repairs can be multiple times more costly than an arc flash protection solution.
