

Super large lithium iron phosphate battery pack charging

Overview

What is a 6C ultra-fast charging battery?

The companies have jointly developed a battery based on lithium iron phosphate (LFP) chemistry that supports 6C ultra-fast charging, SAIC-GM said, adding that it is the first of its kind in the industry.

What is smart LFP battery charger?

The Smart LFP Battery Charger offers a way to fix these problems by ensuring optimal storage and use of energy for EV stations. The Smart LFP Battery Charger comes with unique features. It uses CATL LFP battery cells, which are more stable and safer compared to other types. The LFP olivine structure provides strong chemical bonds.

How fast is a CATL Superfast charging battery?

CATL also introduced its second-generation Shenxing Superfast Charging Battery, pushing the boundaries of charging speed with remarkable specifications. The new battery offers 800 kilometers (497 miles) of range and features a peak charging rate approaching 12C with maximum charging power exceeding 1.3 megawatts.

What is the fastest-charging electric vehicle battery?

General Motors' China joint venture SAIC-GM and power battery giant CATL have jointly launched the fastest-charging electric vehicle (EV) battery to date, as carmakers scramble to speed up charging to be more competitive.
